John Willmott Special Educational Needs Offer

1. What kinds of Special Educational Needs does the school make provision for? What type of provision does the school make and how do they know it works?

In our school we make provision for pupils who have any of the needs in the table below. We know that some pupils will have difficulties in more than one of these areas and we will always do our best to meet their needs. The support in this table acts as a guide but the things we do may vary and actual support will be based on the specific needs of each pupil.

All children in school have support within lessons through differentiation and quality first teaching strategies. This means that activities are planned according to the level the child or young person is working at. This can include a variety of adaptations including changes to the physical environment, changes to teaching styles as well as levels of adult support.

2. How does the school identify and assess Special Educational Needs?

In school we use a variety of different ways to assess whether a child or young person has special educational needs. Some of these ways include:

- Observations
- School based test results
- Information from parents and carers
- Information from the child or young person
- Specialised assessments carried out by members of the school's support services
- Information from previous schools or settings
- Results from end of key stage assessments
- Discussions with adults who work with the child or young person

Once a child or young person is identified as having a special educational need, a graduated approach to support is taken. The child or young person's needs will first be assessed, then support will be planned, carried out and then reviewed. At the review any necessary changes will be made.

3. How do the school know how much progress is being made by pupils with Special Educational Needs?

All children's progress, including those children or young people with special educational need, is tracked using the school's assessment tracking system. Pupils are assessed regularly using teacher marking, observations and questioning as well as more formal assessments such as curriculum tests and standardised test. In Birmingham we also have access to the Birmingham Language and Literacy and Maths toolkits which support assessment when a child or young person is making small steps of progress. In addition, for children or young people with special educational needs we also set individual targets that are reviewed at least three times a year? This helps the school to monitor how well interventions are working. The progress each child is making is discussed at Parent Consultation evenings with the subject teacher and in Review meetings with the SENCO.

4. What extra-curricular activities can a pupil with Special Educational Needs access at school?

All children have access to our extra-curricular activities published each term. Where appropriate and possible, adjustments will be made to ensure all children and young people with special educational needs are fully included in these activities.

In addition, our school provides additional extra-curricular activities for children and young people with special educational needs when needed. These may include morning clubs, social interaction groups and home learning club.

5. Does the school have a Special Educational Needs co-ordinator? If so who are they and how can someone get in touch with them?

Our school has a SPECIAL EDUCATIONAL NEEDS co-ordinator; we usually call her/him the SENCO.

Her name is Mrs Van Alderwegen

If you would like to talk to her then you can phone the school and make an appointment.

The best way to contact our SENCO is (phone or email address) 0121 378 1946 enquiry@jws.bham.sch.uk

The best time to contact our SENCO is between 9.00am – 3.15pm

What training does the staff in school have in relation to pupils with Special Educational Needs?

In our school we believe that all staff should be involved in supporting pupils with special educational needs and so we make sure that staff have training to help them do this.

This year our staff have all had training for Autism Level 1, Attachment Awareness and Trauma training and ADHD

As well as this various staff have been trained for different aspects of special educational needs including specialist teaching for Dyslexia, Autism level 2, Person Centred Review facilitation and Speech and Language

6. How do the school get more specialist help for pupils if they need it?

In our school if we feel a pupil needs more specialist help we can work with the following people to get this.

Agency or Service	Who they work with	How school can get in touch with them
Behaviour Support Service (BSS) City of Birmingham School (COBs)	Children or young people with emotional, social or mental health difficulties that impacts on their behaviour in school	School have an allocated worker who they will contact after a parent or carer signs a referral form

7. How are parents of children and young people with Special Educational Needs involved in the education of their child?

Our school ensures we are always approachable so parents/carers feel involved in the education of their child.

In addition, our school aims to regularly involve parents in the education of their child through a variety of different ways including:

- Regular meetings with SENCO and support staff
- Pupil planners to inform parents of important information
- Important dates and letters available on the John Willmott Website
- School policies available on the John Willmott Website
- Parents' Consultation Evenings
- Signposting to parent groups
- Parents' views on IEP/Annual Review documents

8. How are pupils with Special Educational Needs involved in their own education?

We aim to involve all children in our school in the evaluations and implementation of their own education. For children and young people with Special Educational Needs we use a variety of strategies to support this including:

- Person Centred Reviews
- Child or young person's target review meetings
- Involve child or young person in setting their own targets

- Self-assessment at the beginning and end of learning
- Ensuring the child or young person works with a range of different partners
- Ensuring the child or young person has a designated adult to go to if they need support
- Pupil conferencing
- Membership of the school council
- One page profiles
- Medical alert cards
- Prompt cards to promote independence
- Red cards to leave class if necessary

9. If a parent of a child with Special Educational Needs has a complaint about the school, how does the governing body (or proprietor) deal with the complaint?

If you have a complaint about the school, please contact The Chair of Governors – Mr Tim Claxton and we will do everything we can to fix the issue. Our school and governing body take complaints seriously and will act upon these on an individual basis. The complaints policy is on the website.

10. How does the governing body (or proprietor) involve other people in meeting the needs of pupils with Special Educational Needs including support for their families?

In our school we have a governor who is responsible for special educational needs. His name is Mr Neil Bunford

Their job is to meet with the SENCO regularly. In these meetings the SEN governor make sure that children, young people and families are being supported by the right services from in and outside of school.

In addition, the Head teacher and SENCO have to give a report to the SEN Governor twice a year. The SEN Governor shares this report with the other governors so that the whole governing body is aware of how special educational needs are being supported in the school and how well this support is working. The governors will challenge, support and advise the head teacher if appropriate provision isn't being made.

12. How do the school support pupils with Special Educational Needs through transition?

We aim to make times of transition as easy as possible for the children and young people in our school.

When starting at our school we:

- Meet with the child or young person and their parents/carers to talk about their needs and answer any questions about our school
- Meet with staff at the child or young person's previous school or setting
- Provide the child or young person with a transition book that has photographs of the key staff and areas around school
- Read reports from people who have worked with the child or young person
- Arrange visits to our school so the child or young person gets to see it before they start properly
- Give any adults working with the child or young person a one-page profile or pupil passport describing the things that help to support them in school
 - When moving to a new year group we:
 - Talk to the child or young person and their family so we can answer any questions they may have about the new year group
 - Give any adults working with the child or young person a one-page profile or pupil passport describing the things that help to support them in school
